Foreword

THE range of usefulness in an effective and durable system of Directory, Bulletin or Announcement Boards with Changeable Individual Letters is readily apparent. With such an equipment changes may be made at once and as often as desired without recourse to the manufacturer or his agent. There is no enforced delay awaiting the preparation of new signs or units thereof. Ours is the only system that affords these invaluable advantages.

Herein we illustrate and briefly describe specimen boards, evidencing some of the employments to which these boards are adapted, likewise a list of some of the buildings, institutions, clubs, armories and individuals that are using them to advantage.

Only a few styles of frames are shown, some of them standard and some reproduced to serve as suggestions. We are prepared, however, to provide frames to suit individual preferences or to harmonize with any specified form of interior decoration or architecture.

For out of doors, where exposed to the elements, an especially constructed frame is required. Any design of frame may be modified to meet this requirement.

Drawings and photographs will be furnished when desired embracing a wide variety of treatment in frame design, from which selections may be made. To architects particularly, when determining the size and form of wall space to be allotted to the Directories of building occupants; our experience and suggestions are often valuable. A definite decision as to location and space to be occupied often involves a worth-while saving in expensive marble or interior trim. We maintain a special department equipped to co-operate with architects along these lines.

Our device consists of a grooved backboard, with special features forming the basis of numerous patents, covered with cloth of a special quality, and subdivided into columns and spaces by enameled strips. The white letters are made from a strong plastic material, and each letter is provided with a spring which holds it firmly in the groove.

A recently invented system of interchangeable units enables the removal and replacement of entire names or lines without rearranging contiguous names. This especially advantageous feature will be furnished at a cost additional to our solid backboard, if desired. (See illustration on page 13.)

The color of the cloth covering for the backboard is optional. Blue is in demand and usually considered most appropriate for Office Building Directories. For Bulletin Announcement Boards and other special signs maroon, green or black may be used. Maroon cloth offers a striking contrast to the white letters, and is often preferred for Announcement Boards and for Window Displays. The beauty of the white polished letter contrasted against the dark background gives to these signs a character that serves to neutralize their utilitarian purpose, and makes of them an ornament as well as a necessity. In announcements their attractiveness accomplishes greater publicity, and their distinction in this respect is one of the foremost recommendations.

Most important of all, however, is the element of low cost. The boards and equipment when purchased outright become a self-contained complete operating unit in the hands of the purchaser, permanent for all time. Changes may be made immediately and as often as desired, and the first cost is the final cost.

We publish a price list for standard boards which will be furnished upon application, and prompt response be made to requests for estimates upon individual requirements.

In requesting quotations upon Building Directories please state the number of offices for which provision must be made.

Hitherto our Directories and Bulletins have been sold outright, but for those who might prefer, a plan of rental has been adopted, whereby the board and a full complement of letters will be furnished upon lease at a moderate amount per annum.

PATENTED: June, 1891; December, 1907; January, 1908; August, 1908; October, 1908; July, 1913.

STYLE AND SIZES OF LETTERS

Illustration showing letters in full size. ¼, ½, ¾, 1 and 1½ inches in height.
(Under glass these letters seem magnified)

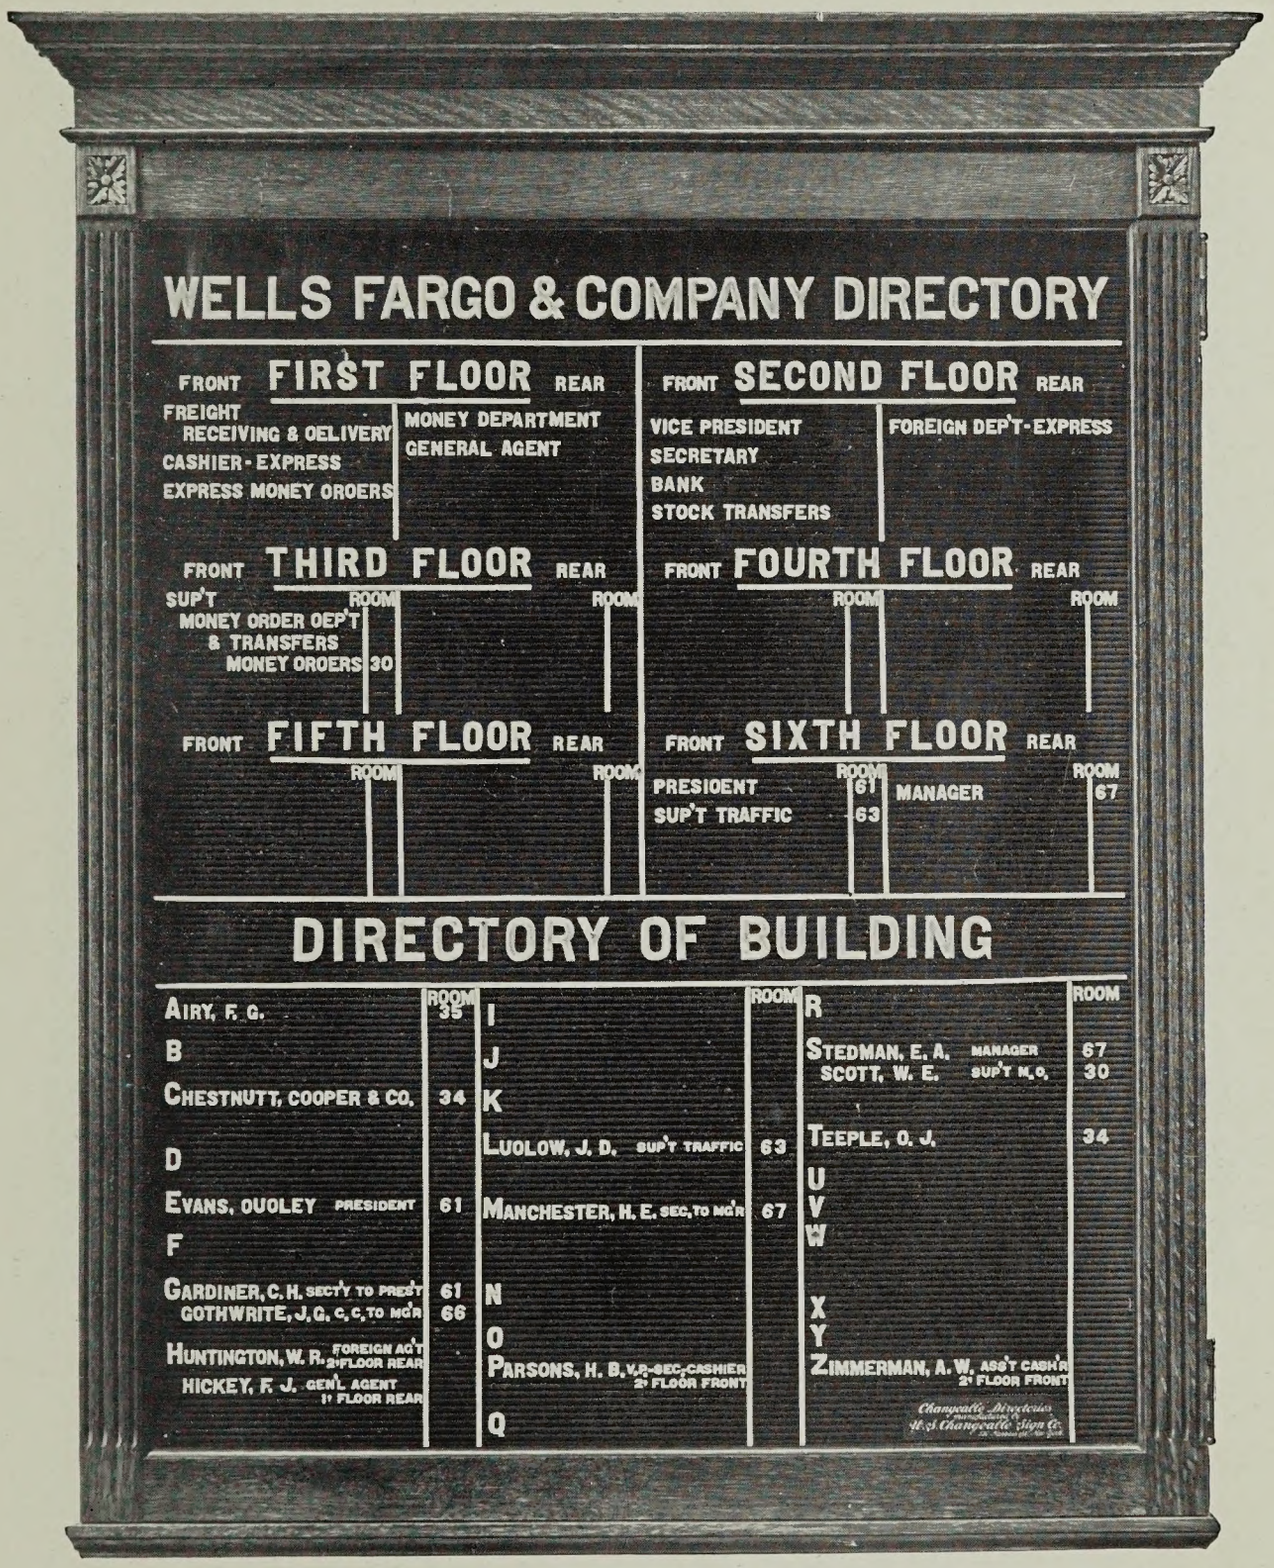
These letters are plain square block with slightly bevelled edges. ¼ and ½ inch sizes are generally used for building directories or Bulletin announcements, the next larger size for alphabetical division and capitals; ¾ inch letters may be used in smaller directories and for headings; 1 inch and 1½ inch letters for titles of buildings in Directories and special headings in Announcement Boards.



STYLE "A" DIRECTORY

Company and Office Directory, made for Wells Fargo & Co., New York

Size 37¾ inches wide by 52½ inches high.

Illustrates a variety of arrangements in laying out into columns and spaces ½, ¼, 1 and 1½ inch letters used.

Quartered oak frame shown. Made in any wood; cabinet finished; best double thick glass in door. Overlap door.
